

Akeba / Kickstart restore

Posted by maciek - 25 Jun 2012 22:46

Hi,

I have a problem with YT news_15 template because after restore I have blank page (forntpage). I can access backstage. Was messing with this over 3 nights and found that when changed template to different site is alive.

website is www.furebody.ie .

So in other word I can't use YT news after restore.

I noticed that if I remove module gt_news then ytnew15 is alive but menu i vertical and has all submenus listed (and there is no way to change it) . It look like 2 screens of menu lists and then after scrolling down you finally have a proper website.

Site is running fine - i did only test after restore on 2nd domain and xampp.

config and htaccess are changed if someone is asking.

Did you had this problem?

I know that is YT related as if you change to different default template it is working straight (no other changes are necessary).

Hi maciek,

I think that maybe you changed somethings on your site before.

Could you send your site link to us?

Thanks

www.futurebody.ie

But it is working fine. Problem is only after kickstart recovery.

I only changed logo position and background image.

Hi maciek,

Please check the backup process again.

Maybe there are some errors in it.

Thanks

Hello Sa Supporter,

I did, after about 2-3 weeks of checking, restoring and so on I traced problem. One module GT_news which I placed at left+right position is causing that problem, I mean is in conflict with YT_news15 template.

When I disable it, page comes straight way.

when I change template (GT_news - is enabled like it was) - page comes straight away.

I didn't find any errors during backup that is why is strange (used multi configurations).

One time after restore I had some errors on white/blank page (something line 29 and something line 31)
- didn't record them.

To be clear. I don't assault your template - I think it is very nice wordpress-joomla template:).

My question is maybe you are aware that some modules are causing conflicts.

In next month I'll replace this module and fit different one and than reply.
